SPENDING MONEY FOR IMPROVEMENTS AND TAKING OUT HIGH-GRADE

Of the numerous camps of Nevada that were launched with a great deal of noise and ink within the past two or three years, that known as Seven Troughs is showing distinctly that the early confidence of its friends was well placed, says the Salt Lake Tribune. No better friend to the district exists than J. R. Bischof, one of the Mazuma Hills directors, who is in Salt Lake for the purpose of selling another car of gold ore. Mr. Bischof stated to the Tribune yesterday that Seven Troughs was not a one-mine camp, nor was the district limited in extent as far as prospected. And in his opinion, and he has had a great many years of experience at Cripple Creek, the ore veins of the Seven Troughs camp will be found to extend to splendid depths.

There are no more interesting mines in all Nevada than the Mazuma Hills, one reason being its magnificent richness, the other being the disinclination on the part of those owning the property to boost it in any way whatever. Mr. Bischof met the request for some Mazuma Hills data Thursday by stating that the property was being worked for its mineral wealth, and not for publication, but consented to give some facts of interest for general information.

He states that the company has sent its working down to the 300-foot level, and the shaft has broken into the sulphide zone just recently. On the upper levels the main ore chute was drifted on for 250 feet or more, while on the lowest level it has been followed along its strike for 150 feet so far. The extent of the ore on the lowest level is yet an unknown quantity, but the average width is from two to five feet. In this distance occurs ore that shows gold in wonderful profusion. Mr. Bischof showed a large sample of the Mazuma Hills rock, and it is as plentifully plastered with the yellow metal as any ore ever extracted from a Nevada mine.

The car now in the local market will not extend to bonanza levels, for it is to the interest of all non-contract shippers of gold ore under the present conditions to come within the prescribed limit of the smelters. Mr. Bischof was unwilling to state the probable value of this car, but rumor has it that the ore will run between $300 and $400 a ton. Three sets of leasers upon the Mazuma are now sacking shipping ore, and the Mazuma Hills Leasing Company is so confident with what they have secured so far that the company is installing some heavy machinery to sink to great depths. Regarding the Seven Troughs district as a whole, Mr. Bischof said:

"The district never was in a more healthy condition, nor was there ever so much work being done there as now. The proved belt of mineralization extends in width from one to two miles, and it is in the neighborhood of seven miles in length. I feel safe in stating that neither Cripple Creek nor Goldfield at a corresponding state of development were able to make so fine a showing as this camp. There are more than six different spots in the camp now producing shipping ore, and so frequent are strikes of gold ore that the list is growing fast.

"Just lately there have been several very satisfactory developments in the camp. Among the properties that are coming to the front now are the Seven Troughs Eclipse, Mazuma Hills Extension, Fine Gold and several others. I heard before I left the camp that the Badger claim was the scene of a rich find of gold ore. Of special interest to the Seven Troughs section at this time is the installation of a modern and efficient water plant. The Mazuma Water and Power company is spending over $25,000 to bring in water from Burnt canyon, and the company will reduced greatly the present difficulties in securing water for domestic and commercial purposes. Water has been selling for $1 a barrel there, but those days are near their end. The district is all right, and with depth will be shown one of the most permanent in Nevada. I deem it one of the best districts that Nevada has given birth to in the present revival of mining there."

SENT HURLING DOWN STEEP GRADE TO DESTRUCTION

[By Associated Press.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Petro Delamin was killed this morning in a street car accident on Kentucky street, in the Potrero. Several passengers, mostly working people, were severely injured, among them Winnie Franks, aged 16 years.

The trolley car was descending a steep grade, when the brakes failed to work and, in attempting to reverse the current, Motorman Robert Koppman turned it on full force, causing the car to shoot down the incline at fearful speed. At the bottom of the hill a heavy meat wagon was standing and the car crashed into this with great force, almost demolishing it and hurling the passengers in every direction. Delamin died soon after the collision from injuries received in the impact.

Conductor Charles Lewis and Motorman Koppman were arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

FIVE PEOPLE KILLED AND A SCORE INJURED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

[By Associated Press.]

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 4.—Five persons were killed and a score or more injured in a head-on collision between a north-bound passenger train and a south-bound freight train on the Iron Mountain railroad last night.

DREW BETTER CROWDS.

Americans Prove Better Money Getters Than Nationals.

The greatest baseball season ever known has just closed. A careful compilation of the daily attendance figures, which have been kept ever since the American league expanded east, shows that 1907 leads all other baseball years by more than 300,000.

The figures show that the American and National leagues drew a grand total of 6,136,557 persons. The nearest approach to these figures was in 1904, when 5,869,269 persons witnessed the combined games of the National and American leagues. These figures are an increase over last year of 417,268.

The American league again outdrew the National, Ban Johnson's organization showing a total of 3,398,765, while the National's figures show a decrease of 40,000. Last year the Americans outdrew the Nationals by 156,863; this season the Americans outdrew the Nationals more than 660,000.

This is accounted for by the sensational race in the American league from start to finish, while it was a foregone conclusion before the season was half over that the Chicago Cubs were the best in the National.

The Chicago White Sox led all individual clubs with a total of 666,307. The Athletics of Philadelphia come next with a total of 625,581. Connie Mack's team drew 130,000 more than last year, while the Phillies' figures show an increase of nearly 50,000.

Last season the Chicago Nationals outdrew the Americans by nearly 70,000, while this season, although the White Sox did not land the pennant, and the Nationals did, Comiskey's team pulled 250,000 more than the Cubs.

The figures of the clubs that play Sunday ball show that more than one-half of the attendance witnessed the game on the Sabbath. Taking this into consideration, the eastern cities are the best baseball towns, as the entire patronage has to see the game on week days.

The eastern cities in the National league outdrew the western towns, the four clubs of the east pulling 1,395,287, while the four western cities drew 1,342,506.

This was reversed in the American league, the western cities outdrawing their eastern rivals. The four western clubs played to 1,764,457, while the four eastern clubs had an aggregate attendance of 1,634,307.

The largest crowd at the Philadelphia Americans' grounds on a single day was Monday, September 30, when 24,127 paid to see Detroit in the sensational seventeen-inning tie contest. The smallest crowd was on April 15, when 2,556 paid to see Boston.

The largest crowd on the Philadelphia National's grounds was Saturday, October 5, when 15,020 paid to see the New York Giants, while the smallest crowd was May 31, when 1,213 paid to see Boston play.

The Chicago Nationals have the honor of drawing the largest crowd on a single day in either league, 28,000 turning out on June 5 to see the New York Giants at Chicago.

The figures of both leagues indicate that not a club in either league will show a deficit.

This proves conclusively that the public wants two major leagues and will support both.

SENSIBLE ADVICE

"Oh, my," exclaimed the excited woman, who had mislaid her husband, "I am looking for a small man with one eye—"

"Well, ma'am," suggested the floorwalker politely, "if he's a very small man maybe you'd better use both eyes."—The Blue Book.
